

Some were meant to see the sky, others were meant to explore the land