Statistics for Potential Voters

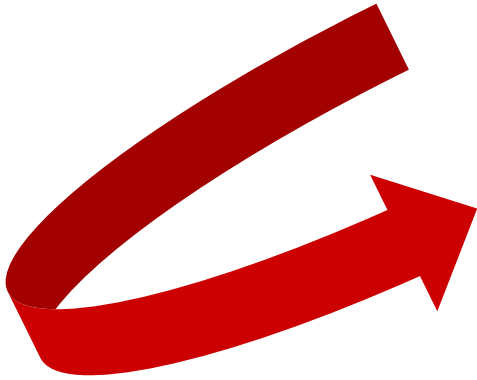

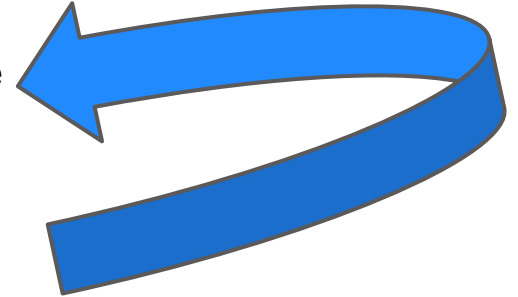

“ By a significant 12-point margin, 42 percent to 30 percent, a greater proportion of young Republicans say they are definitely going to vote in November than young Democrats-”

“ Roughly one-in-four (26%) young Americans under the age of 30 say that they will “definitely be voting” in the fall, a very similar proportion to that seen during a similar time period prior to the 2010 midterm elections (27%: Sept. 2010)”

Inside Perspective

“ Statistics have shown that fewer than half of the young adult population have voted in either general or presidential elections, whereas adults over the age of 30 have an average turnout rate of 70-75 percent. ” -Jordan Fiske

“ By 2016, data is showing that young people, people called millennials, are going to be about a third of the electorate, so this is an important opportunity for young people to have their voices heard. ”
Rob Flaherty

Lets Talk To The Youth!

We conducted our own survey at Science Leadership Academy for the future voters of America, focusing on the age range 14-18 (SLA Freshman-Senior)

How often does America vote for the president, governor, and mayor?

- 100% could name how often we vote for the president

-more than half could not name how often we elect the mayor or governor
