Hi, my name is Yusef Jamaladdin

Here's one slide about me...

Here's a bit about me

I am very passionate about writing code and programming. I've always wanted a career in technical engineering because it's always been something I find very interesting and fun. I believe that code is the future of the world and that we need to get some kids into writing code. We also need engineers of all types. I love building things and working in other types of engineering as well. Overall engineering is a very fun and important subject that I believe is the future!
