

PART ONE- PROLOUGE

“Erick is a Special child.”

Erick heard that sentence countless times during his education on Mars. He was born there in 2225, one of the first humans birthed in outer space. Of course it was the time where Mars was able to develop natural necessities for humans so that they could live on the planet. Erick grew up with his twin brother Jerome, mother, father, and grandmother. Atlas, which is one of the largest cities on Mars and is five times larger than the what is now sacred land of New York City. Erik had a pretty privileged life up until he was six years old. Erick's family was upper class and always went on vacation. Even though Erick's life started off perfect it wasn't like that forever. When Erick and his family went to a family reunion a tragedy struck. Armed men started to slaughter everybody in Erick's family at the event. This men worked for the group AO (Amazon Organization) which is a dictatorship on the planet Saturn that is currently trying to overthrow the Milky Way as it's territory. At the time Erick and Jerome were playing in a pond that were pretty was was pretty far from where the massacre took place. When Erick and Jerome walked back to the area they stopped behind a boulder and saw their family member murdered and a man who pointed a gun to their fathers head demanding information on where Erick and Jerome were located. His father refused to give the information and ended up getting a killed in front of Erick and Jerome. The boys stayed behind the rock until and the armed men left then police officers showed up. From here Eric and Jerome were sent to two completely different orphanages. At first Erick was very quiet in the orphanage and do not speak for a week. Other orphans in the home would pick on Erick and steal his food. The person who caused the most trouble was hulk. Hulk basically was the alpha child in the orphanage because he got what he wanted. If he wanted an orphan to do his work they would do it. As time went on, Erick began to get his mind of of thing in the orphanage by sketching random things. Erick was able to do this because he was born with the ability to use about 50% of his brain rather than the average human who can use only about 10% because his as a child he was offspring of his parents who both injected themselves with an advance neurological steroid than increases and organisms I.Q. This talent began to become noticed as a gift and other adults who worked in the orphanage began to notice his and would praise Erick. Erick would be able to roughly sketch events in his sketch pad and they would happen in the future. As he practiced he did not need a sketchpad and more and could predict the outcome of something in his head. Erick used this talent in school and would get straight A's every quarter during school. Even though Erick's life began to turn around, it again had a tragic turn. Hulk began to get jealous that he would get less attention and less respect so he told some of the orphans to grab Erick in his sleep and bring him to the bathroom. The orphans did so and held Erick down and Hulk told Erick if his screams and tell anybody about what he is about to do to him that that he will kill him. As Erick was pinned to the ground Hulk began to merciless throw punches at Erick. Erick was brutally beaten and had his sketchbook with all of his predictions of futures events thrown ripped and flushed down the toilet. Erick told the staff that he was robbed on his way home from school so that Hulk would not get in trouble. This angered Erick and he wanted to get revenge. Erick decide that this event could own be settle physical, therefore Erick began to work out, practice his prediction skills without a sketchbook, and train for his showdown with Hulk. On Hulk birthday, Erick anonymous gave Hulk a note inviting him the basement. Hulk suspected that it would be a surprise party until he saw Erick flipping a coin and saying the outcome before it hit the ground which quickly anger Hulk causing them to fight Erick in the basement. Erick then pinned Hulk the the ground broke his jaw and stated “tell anyone and I will kill you.”. Erick than gained Hulks respect and began to do well in school again causing him to graduate high school with the highest GPA with a full ride scholarship to Einstein Newton’s Academy which is the most advanced schools in the Galaxy. He would later get a career as a high positions detective for the galactic government.

PART TWO- THE RETURN

“BEEP, BEEP, BEEP. BEEP, BEEP, BEEP” I quickly slammed my alarm and knew it was time for work. As I jump out of bed I went to the bathroom to brush my teeth and take a show. Before I got changed I checked my wrist log to see what I need to change in for my mission today for the galactic government. The log said optional which really caught my eye. On my to work I saw another one of those AO) symbols spray painted on a wall. If did not work for the Galactic Government and found out who painted those symbols I would kill them if I had the chance. As I entered the galactic government I was greeted forceful with a “Good morning detective Ceres, your presence is required in the launch room.” by the butler bot at the entrance of the department.

As walking towards the launch room all I could this was if I were getting fired, promoted, or demoted for breaking the AO burglars wrist while arresting him. I then found myself waiting sitting in the launch room for orders and was about to leave until the Galactic Government Head Detective came in! I only see him on t.v or read about him in my mission log.

“ Greeting detective Ceres, we have not meet before but know who each other are.” he spoke in a serious tone.

“Head Detective it is a honor to meet you, I-”

“Quit the bullshit, my officials and I have been observing you for years. We know what you can do, what you went through, and that is why we need you. Your parents were very important people and they are why you can do the special abilities that you can do.”

“So you Know about the future events that I see.”

“What did I say we know everything and that is why we need you. Your mission is to board a cargo ship to Saturn and go undercover as a janitor in the A.O Executive Office Building to find documentation on a disease and can potentially kill all humanity on Mars as we know it. But whatever you do, do not open the documentation folder!”

“Head Detective, I am honored to execute this mission as followed.”

“Detective Ceres, I want you to be aware that this mission is not like any other mission that you have face before. You may have personal feeling that will get in the way of you getting the job that you need to get done at I want you to be aware of that and I want to to ignore them.”

“Sir, I understand I will not let my personal feelings and emotions get in the way of the law”.

“Great, that being said you shall get suited up now because the cargo ship will commence departure in approximately 3.75 hours which is more than enough time for you to read your mission log.”

As the Galactic Government Head Detective left the room I began to shake. All I could think was that I was given the most important missions in my career just talking to the one of most important men in the entire galaxy and I just lied right to his face. I know for a fact that my personal feelings will get the way of the mission that I have to execute , I can sense it! Although, needed to get the job done so I started to read my mission log. It stated that I would be going undercover as a janitor in the A.O Executive Office Building and my partner Detective Altair would be who I am pretty close friends with. When the Prime Minister of A.O is giving a speech I will be scheduled to clean the minister's office and retrieve the documents. While this is happening Detective Altair will be hacking the cameras so that I shall not be seen taking the documents. The planned seemed pretty basic so I did not seem to be either annoyed or nervous with the process. After were were both equipped with the materials that we need to complete to mission.

PART THREE- DEPARTURE

we were placed in largo shipment with farm animals. These animals were placed in cargo to ensure thermal visibility of the animals not will make us stand out.

“Altair, what a sight to see huh? Nothing better to see that factory farm animals with a stench of manure.”

“Don't worry this mission will be done before we know and we have nothing to worry about, with your advanced prediction skills and my intelligence we will the document and be known as the men who saved humanity and Mars. ”

“I guess but, I don't think that it will be that easy. Plus, it is a little sketchy that the Head Detective only met with us for less than fifteen minutes for a mission that is probably going to end humanity as we know it if we fail it”

“Calm down Ceres he probably took such a short time because he knows that we will finish the mission in short amount of time”.

“I guess.”

As I felt the cargo ship tilting in knew that we were getting ready for lift off. I could hear the ship informing the workers on the ship that it was leaving the planet Mars.

“Attention, now boarding on the Planet Mars to Saturn. This ship shall only board humans who are lieutenants on the cargo ship. Any other beings who set upon the during flight shall be killed or imprisoned without any trial. Be prepared to experience a change in the gravitational pull and oxygen availability. If you by any chance experience blurry vision or nausea please make your way to the crew-quarters and wait to be attended by the ship’s medic. If any trespasser are aboard the ship you have the right used armed weapons.”

I knew that this would be a long trip whether or not it was going to turn out to be easy or hard. Therefore chose got to sleep and put on an alarm to wake me up when we arrive on Saturn.

PART FOUR- CHANGE OF PLANS

I woke up to the ship shaking assuming that it was landing and woke up Altair from his deep sleep. To make sure that arrives on Saturn I check the GPS on my wrist log. The GPS stated that were were on a small asteroid named Colossus County which used as a farming planet farm animals similar to the ones that we boarded with. Why would we be landing on a planet even though the ship stated that we will be traveling just to Saturn.

Altair and I supposed that the cargo ship would deliver the cargo to the planet and we would be off to Saturn again. The ship started to deliver the cargo except there was a problem. We were they cargo that was being unloaded. The latch that kept the door from unlocking began to raise and Altair was spotted by two cargo lieutenants.

“You! What are you doing here? You violated the law of the intergalactic space trade. Pay your punishment!”

I then visioned the lieutenants shooting Altair in the head if I do not do anything. Therefore, I used my plasma gun 2 level which shot radiowave towards the lieutenants. This did not kill the lieutenants but only left them unconscious for about fifteen minutes and they will not remember anything that happen to them in the last hour.

“Ceres, we need to go to and cargo box. Using the animals to hide are thermal visibility on the ship is a no go.”

“But Alatar, where could we possibly hide? Everything cargo box on this ship that would throw off our thermal visibility is farming cargo or an enclosed area that could possibly kill us.”

I knew that we had to think fast or else our mission would possibly fail. The idea the came to me.

“Altair I have an idea that could very well possibly work may still get us to Saturn. We could take the clothes from the two lieutenants and steal their identities. By using our wrist logs we can scan who the are and use their galactic government biography to learn who they are and their names. In addition, by shooting them with my plasma gun on level 5 they shall become unconscious until a week and we will probably be on Saturn by then.”

“That does seem like a great plan but I have a question where would we read the biography of the men.”

“We could sign in to the crew-quarters as ill and sleep there until we reach Saturn. By doing this we will have the time that they rest there come out of the lieutenants paycheck. Trust me it will work, I know it will.”

“Wow Ceres I knew I could count on that special predicting head of yours! Seems like a good plan to me.”

Altair and I then began take our clothing off and replace it with the lieutenants outfits so we would blend in. As we made our way down to the cock-pit we were approached by some of the lieutenants on the ship and seemed to blend in. We eventually, settled in the the cockpit and I again put my wrist log alarm for the destination Saturn.

PART FIVE- ARRIVAL

When my wrist log had woke me up from my nap in the cockpit it stated that we have finally arrived on the planet Saturn in the city of Glutopia. Altair and I realized that we could finally get the mission over and done with. As we exited the ship started to speak in to Altair in the language of Zorg because that is the official language of Saturn and if were caught speaking English in the city of Glutopia our covers will be blown. As we began to make our way towards a secluded mission we noticed something.

“Hey Altair, do you notice anything about the planet Saturn.”

“In fact, I do. Ceres we have been lied to by the media. We have been washed this planet is not corrupt at all. It seems to resemble our very own Mars because it is so civilized”

“I was just about to say that! Do you think that we can twist this mission into the way that we want it to be done”

“Ceres just stop right there! We have to obey orders I mean we are talking about the whole faith of humanity in stake.

“Agreed, I cannot let my own viewpoint get in the way of me”

As we were exiting the cargo area we approached a dark alley so that we could read the mission report on are wrist logs in private.

The report stated that we will meet in a warehouse that is two miles away from the A.O Executive Office Building by boarding a public transport shuttle ship. From there we I would change in a janitor for the A.O Executive Office Building and read his biography. Altair will stay in the warehouse and get used to the hacking equipment used to control the camera's, lights, doors, and automated guards patrolling the A.O Executive Office Building.

When we finally finished reading the reports we wait for the public transport shuttle ship. The public transport shuttle ship finally arrived after the thirty minutes that we were waiting for it and we board the ship. Just like on the planet Mars the people on the ship were very civilized. There was not fighting or screaming. Everybody in the ship was friendly and well- behaved. I figured that the ride would take a long time so I closed my eyes and put my head down.

“Ceres. This is the stop we need to get off.”

“Oh wow. Altair are we really here already I thought that the trip would be longer”

“It was not that short of a ride it was about thirty minutes. You must of dozed off or probably took a nap.

When we entered the warehouse the were twon my in black suits. The re-informed us how the mission will go down and what actions needed to be done. After this I skimmed through my biography as the Janitor that I am going undercover as and before I knew it the mission was about the begin. I was exiting the building when I heard a shout from Altair in the computer area.

“Ceres I want to say good luck but... do not fail your job at saving humanity on mars.”

“Make sure I don't Altair!”

I began to set my destination towards the A.O Executive Office Building and my mission was about to start that could possible save the world.

PART SIX- THE MISSION

As I was approaching the entrance of the A.O Executive Office Building and I began to feel a sense that something bad was going to happen, something that I did not want to happen. I just on walking toward the door because I already accept the mission and it is my duty to complete it. I entered the A.O Executive Office Building and sign in as a temporary Janitor. I was then greeting by an A.O agent.

“Good morning, Zaratus McGarvey. You must be the new Janitor to clean the Prime Minister's office.”

“Yes, yes I am.”

“Due to the fact that, the minister is about to give his ship it would be a great time for you to start clean out his office right now”

“I'm on it.”

I open up the prime minster office and notice that his was pretty small and not grand at all. This was a surprise to me because I expected to be due to the fact that most higher authorities and are respected more than others.

When I heard the camera spark and the red on on it turn off I knew that Altair had hacked into the camera security system and I took find the documents. I checked my wrist log which stated that the document should be placed under the desk. I walked over to the desk and grabbed the documents. This mission already seems easier than I thought. I then fled the A.O Executive Office Building and I could see Altair in a white Space jet waiting for me. I hoped the jet with the documentation in my hand. We pass this mission off we saved humanity on earth! Even Though I would soon become a hero on Mar I felt that I did something wrong. Therefore, I opened the documentation and it stated the material needed to create Qoid zytantum which is the neurological steroid for my parents took. I then realized that I have been Lied to. To keep this drug from being created I lit the document on fire with my plasma ray on and waited for my arrival on Mars.
