

So, I have a friend group, and most of them are boys. We are a pretty close group, so if you hear something that seems dangerous, nine out of ten it's just a joke. We often have video calls throughout the day in which we talk, help each other out, play video games, and have deep conversations. Usually, the boys are the ones who game while Kendal and I watch them lose or win but most of all rage. In the story, I will only be talking about Cameron, Soren, Kendal, and me. So, first up there's Kendal, she is very wholesome. Kendal is a cinnamon roll, she would never do anything to hurt anyone, not even if they had done bad in her life. Next, we have Soren, he yells a lot when he plays video games. It's funny to see because he would curse out of nowhere, but then instantly regret it, because the wholesome Kendal would be there listening. Soren is also very friendly and a good listener. Furthermore, there is Cameron, who is like an old grandpa. He is very wise for his age and an overall good listener. Although Cameron is a very reliable and responsible person, he can also be fun and loose when need be. He also cannot English sometimes, meaning he knows English but sometimes speaks gibberish. Overall, he is really smart, but just like me, he makes mistakes too. These are only a few of the people in my friend group.

So it all started when we wanted to watch a movie together but then realized that it was too big of a group to go together. So we watched a movie that Saturday in a video call. One of us streamed the movie and we watched it together. Soren had decided we would all watch "Your Name". Watching the movie together was the funniest thing ever. We have a lot of inside jokes that won't make sense unless I explain them. Before we watched the movie, Soren had made it seem like it was going to end badly. Cameron threatened Soren that if the movie ended badly, he was going to "box my walk." What he meant to say was "box my wall". After hearing this we started dying of laughter.

Throughout the movie, Cameron kept pausing it, SOOOOOOO many times saying “if this makes me cry I’ll box my wall” or something like that to Soren since he was the guy with good movie choices. There was this one time where Cameron stopped the movie and Soren and Cameron were having a small argument about how the movie is going to end. Cameron stopped the movie once again, which he said something along these lines, “Guys be right back im stopping the movie I need to use the bathroom”. So we all went and left to do our own things. We agreed on coming back in five minutes and I went to do things at the last minute. I tell you not that I ran to get the Oreos, you know everyone really likes the cream, well I personally hate the cream. I despise the cream, so I rush to take it off. As I’m taking the cream off, I accidentally threw the one that doesn’t have cream in the trash can. I did this two more times. By then I was like “the movie started and I might as well take my time”. The thing I didn’t know was everyone was waiting on me and I was just taking my sweet time on the Oreos.

So I came to the realization that knowing my friends, they probably would wait for me to get back to start the movie again. Then I realized at that moment that my friends are crazy but they are also kind and patient. So I zoomed back to my room and I shut the door so loud my mom came out of her room and told me to be quieter. At that moment I was terrified mostly because by then I was supposed to be asleep, not awake. So I don’t know what I was thinking but I opened the door and my mom was there but she was very calm and said “ be quieter you’re going to wake up the baby” and she had a point. After that, I quietly walked back to the laptop and said “I’m back”. After the movie ended, Cameron did not box his walk.