

1. n/a, n/a. (n.d.-a). 4x8 - ceramic tile - tile. The Home Depot.
<https://www.homedepot.com/b/Flooring-Tile-Ceramic-Tile/4x8/N-5yc1vZarszZ1z1191h>

I feel like this was a good source for me to use because it allows me to have access to different kinds of tiles that we could potentially use for the school. They have so many options to choose from and give me kind of like a layout of the sizing that I would want. They offer a range of colors to choose from which provides me another option in regards to tile, though this is not my finalized one and is still considered an option. The only downside is the fact that it would take more work for me to get them engraved, which could potentially throw off my process.

2. N//a, N/a. "History of Tile." Carpet One Floor & Home, Carpet One Floor & Home, 7 June 2022, www.carpetone.com/blog/history-of-tile.

Just out of curiosity, I wanted to learn the origins of where the tiles come from. and I feel like it would play a big role in what I am trying to achieve not only just by the material but also in regards to laying a foundation. Those types of materials like brick and tiles are strong and we as humans use them in modern-day things to reinforce them. That's kind of the same analogy that I'm putting in the mindset of my Capstone is that the tiles or forming together to create a strong foundation the tile represents the students.

3. hospital, Jefferson. "Alumni Legacy Wall." Alumni Legacy Wall, giving.jefferson.edu/giving-guide/buildings/pinizzotto-Ammon-alumni-center/naming-opportunities/alumni-legacy-wall.html. Accessed 24 Jan. 2024

I like the inspiration behind the wall and it fits the same description of what I'm trying to achieve it's just not the same layout if that makes sense. It has the same idea that I'm going for but I don't want it to look like a memorial contribution to where it's a photo with a whole bunch of words. That would take up too much space and we would only have a limited amount of room, it wouldn't be able to fit a full graduation class. So we would run out of room and people would feel left out and that would not be the goal.

4. n/a, n/a. "Alumni Wall." ETSU College of Public Health, 15 Sept. 2023, www.etsu.edu/cph/about/alumni_wall.php.

The only thing about this one is the fact that it doesn't necessarily look like artwork. It looks like it's just portrayed in one part of an area in the school. But I want my idea to be spread out throughout the school. Therefore, kind of like the student will take longer because they're trying to find a name, but also enjoying their time there. I also feel as if the spacing is too small and requires someone with vision to work harder to see, for they would have to move closer to read the actual names, which is not ideal for this school.

5. The University of Texas at Tyler, n/a. "The University of Texas at Tyler." UT Tyler / Alumni Wall, www.uttyler.edu/alumni/alumni-wall/. Accessed 25 Jan. 2024.

Again with the tiny font but then again this would be a problem for me because not only is it outside, which defeats the purpose of welcoming them into the school because they would just go outside to find their name and then leave. And it's just large slabs of material that constantly have to be engraved I don't know how that process works but from looking at other references I feel like I want it to be organized as well to make it easier to locate names. And it's something that would continue to expand to keep people coming back to see their name get put up.

6. n/a, n/a. "Chris Lehmann." Edutopia, www.edutopia.org/profile/chris-lehmann/. Accessed 25 Jan. 2024.

This is the origin story of where I began, which started with Leahman when the first school. He had a vision that he wanted to achieve. He needed help from his community to make that happen. so he reached out to fellow families to express what his goals were and how he sees this expanding in the future. He asked for them to take a chance on him and he shall not disappoint. And that's what I want to build on and expand on and tell the story. That's when I would reach out to students and teachers from the past to ask them how they feel about this change.

7. Lehmann, Chris. "Chris Lehmann on about.Me." About.Me, about.me/chrislehmhttps://about.me/chrislehmann. Accessed 25 Jan. 2024.

This is just a place where Lehmann has expressed who he is as an individual and how he is a leader within his community. Just by the way he is constantly changing things for the better, he is constantly improving what he built and expanding on it. He has constantly gotten recognition for it and has received multiple awards but what I'm trying to explain is that he is an important piece in this whole process. So I will ask to interview him and ask about his personal view on this project along with how this can improve the school.

8. Formisano, Bob. "Step-by-Step Ceramic Wall Tile Installation." The Spruce, www.thespruce.com/how-to-install-ceramic-wall-tile-1824817#:~:text=Most%20wall%20tiles%20are%20best,the%20tile%20job%20from%20cracking. Accessed 25 Jan. 2024.

This talks about the whole process of what it's like to put up tiles and what the process is like. This is one of the most important parts of the project which is placing them along the wall. I feel like though I'm not doing the actual thing myself I feel like it's something that I think I should learn about. My brother has gone to school for masonry and he likes to talk about it I didn't understand the process but I learned more about it. I was able to understand more and he helped me with the idea of how I was going to place them.

9. Crail, Chauncey. "Learn All about the Pros and Cons of Tile Flooring." Forbes, Forbes Magazine, 26 Sept. 2022, <https://www.forbes.com/home-improvement/flooring/tile-flooring-pros-cons/#:~:text=Long%2Dlasting%20and%20durable%3A%20When,easily%20last%20over%2020%20years>.

I want the actual tiles to last for a long time past the time that we stay here. I feel like the way you did lasts a long time for it to stay here even when we're out of the building. And apparently, tiles last a long time with a Pete and care but I hope the outcome of this is that teens don't destroy. That was also a consideration when I was thinking of this because I didn't want us to face the property, which I spent my hard-earned time on. So I thought about putting a cover on it.

10. n/a, n/a. "How to Create Successful, Small Events (6 Tips)." Purplepass, 19 Sept. 2022, <https://www.purplepass.com/blog/how-to-create-successful-small-events-6-tips/>

This talks about showing me the chips and tricks and takes for your small event to be successful. Our heavenly thoughts about the display presentation or event. I was stressed going to the following: their names or tiles are up as an offer that they come back to the school. I only went to the showcase recently because I felt like it would've been a good idea in regards to the alumni coming back to the school and also networking with the students that currently go there. It will provide opportunities for them to catch up with one another because some have lost touch.